Based on the collaborative networks the project has built up since the first year, further collaborations have been successfully realized. With all the supports from NGOs and local and international academics, the project events were carried out successfully with more participants and the social service community is now more aware of our activities. 3. More research and practice elements have been introduced into our events, as one of our major themes this year is on social impact assessment, where both CTIHE and NGOs have the opportunities to learn more about how to research and measure social impacts. We have also developed a better understanding of social/community economy during this year through events that have been organized. What we have achieved this year can definitely help us generate more input in our final project year where we will try to integrate the discussion on social economy, social enterprises and social impact assessment totally.

A 3-session workshop series was also offered to help the public to understand the relationship between social innovation and social services. The workshops were conducted by our colleagues and three experienced social workers who have practiced social innovation. 4. 3rd International Social Development Conference The third Social Development Conference, “The Power of Sharing: How Sharing Economy could contribute to Community Building”, was held on the 29th Oct 2018. The goal of this conference was to further enhance the research outcome on sharing economy from previous years by engaging both local and international practitioners in the field. Guest speakers brought to the audience international and local cases and experiences in the field of sharing economy and community building. Feedbacks from the participants were very positive.
Total to-date:

① This includes the spending on Data Archiving that was NOT spent during the first two years. This also explains why the variance for 3rd year is a negative figure.

② The budget is used as a support for Dr Chung to cover the expenses of attending a conference in Spain. As Dr Chung’s expense was reimbursed directly by the Institute, there was no actual transfer of this amount to the project account. Thus, the Variance should be $($409,710.79 - $10,000 = $399,710.79)$

- Note:
- ¹ Justifications for significant under-spending or over-spending ($\geq \pm 10\%$) should be given in section 5.1 of the completion report.
 - ² The key milestones to be achieved by the project within the respective stage as indicated in the approved implementation timetable.
 - ³ Justifications for significant slower rate of progress compared with the approved implementation timetable should be provided in detail in section 4 of the completion report.
