The internship can be a part-time or full-time work arrangement. As it is common for students of certain disciplines (e.g. education and healthcare) to take part in practicum (as a mandatory component of the curriculum of the academic programme concerned) instead of internships for work experience, their practicum experience are also included.

Domain 2: Research performance and research postgraduate experience

PM 2.2 Average time-to-completion, graduation rate and employability of research postgraduates

Notes:

- (i) This PM covers RPg students who studied UGC-funded FT RPg programmes. For average time-to-completion and graduation rate of RPg students, the latest available data of three cohorts of students admitted from 2015/16 to 2017/18 academic years as at the 2022/23 academic year are presented; for employability, the latest available data from 2020/21 to 2022/23 academic years are presented.
- (ii) The average time-to-completion is analysed by the type of RPg programmes - MPhil, PhD for students with research-based master (i.e. MPhil or equivalent) (PhD with MPhil) and PhD for students without research-based master (PhD without MPhil) with different normative study periods.
- (iii) Graduation rate refers to the percentage of a cohort of FT RPg students who have successfully completed the study within a specified period of time (i.e. two years after the normative study period).
- (iv) “Normative study period” refers to:
 - (a) “two full-time-equivalent years” for MPhil;
 - (b) “three full-time-equivalent years” for PhD with MPhil;
 - (c) “four full-time-equivalent years” for PhD without MPhil.
- (v) In the calculation of study periods, periods of formal suspension, if any, are discounted.
- (vi) RPg employability refers to the percentage of graduates seeking employment (i.e. excluding those who were not seeking employment for the time being, pursued further studies, emigrated or returned to place of origin) of FT RPg programmes who were in employment.

No. of students admitted in that cohort (b)	361	140	363
Graduation rate [(a) / (b)]	85.6%	88.6%	85.1%

Remark by PolyU:

- The drop in the admission number of RPg students for 2016/17 cohort is due to a shift in the admission period of RPg students in PolyU from July – June to September – August with effect from 2017/18 academic year, which led to a transition period in 2017 where no RPg students were admitted during July to August 2017.

Notes by PolyU:Explanations / justifications for items with year-by-year variances of +/- 15%

- (i) The increase in income for the year 2022/23 was mainly attributable to the net investment gain of $360m for the year as compared to a net investment loss of $482m for last year. The investment gain was mainly due to the rebound in stock markets and rising interest rates during the year. There was also an increase in Tuition and Other Fees from increased student numbers and higher tuition fees. Government Subventions from UGC remained relatively stable for the year while overall income increased. Subventions from UGC as a percentage of total income therefore decreased from 60.6% in 2021/22 to 50.4% in 2022/23.
- (ii) More funds were invested in short-term deposits in 2022/23 due to increased interest rates during the year and no. of monthly expenditure covered by cash & cash equivalents increased from 6.0 as of 30 June 2022 to 7.3 as of 30 June 2023.
- (iii) The projected fluctuations in current assets and current liabilities as well as the resulting current ratio in 2023/24 - 2024/25 are mainly attributable to the cash flow projections of the two student hostel development projects supported by Hostel Development Fund (HDF). HDF is primarily invested in bonds with maturity to align with the projects' progress. Project payments are expected to increase in 2023/24 - 2024/25 when there will be a greater portion of HDF in short-term deposits or bonds to meet the required cash outflow.
- (iv) The projected increase in University expenditure in 2023/24 and 2024/25 is mainly attributed to a number of planned initiatives to strengthen the University's teaching and research capabilities. The increase in expenditure would be supported by the University's projected increase in income and reserves. As a result, the coverage of university's expenditure by reserves and cash & cash equivalent will decrease in 2023/24 and 2024/25.

Assumptions / mechanism of the financial projections

The financial projections are based on the assumptions / mechanism that: -

The forecast income and expenditure are prepared based on the budget approved by the Council of the University in March 2023.

- (1) Income -
 - * Government grants for the 2022-25 triennium is derived mainly with reference to the data and information advised by UGC.
 - * Supplementary Grants to support salary adjustment from 1 April 2023 (if any) has not been taken into consideration.
 - * Investment return, donations and other income are projected with reference to past performance and latest market conditions.
- (2) Expenditure -
 - * The University will continue to allocate resources to support teaching, learning and research which are the core functions of the University.
 - * The salary adjustments (e.g. general adjustment) supported by Supplementary Grants are not included in the expenditure projection as it is cost neutral to the University while the additional cost for merit-related salary increment is projected according to the prevailing policy.

Domain 5: Financial health, institutional social responsibilities and sustainabilityPM 5.2 Overall student places utilisation rate*Notes:

- (i) This PM presents the university's enrolment situation, i.e. actual enrolment of UGC-funded students (in fte) for all UGC-funded programmes at all study levels against the approved student number targets.
- (ii) All UGC-funded universities have the obligation for the full utilisation of student places and intake places in return for receiving public funding. Nevertheless, the UGC understands that enrolment management involves factors such as student admission, market demand and individual student decisions which are often beyond the control of the universities and thus allows a certain level of flexibility on under-utilisation and over-utilisation of student places.
- (iii) UGC-funded students refer to local students of UGC-funded SD, Ug and TPg programmes and all local and non-local students of UGC-funded RPg programmes.

- (i) This is a new PM introduced under the UAA for the 2022-25 triennium with data available beginning from the 2021/22 academic year.
- (ii) This PM covers all non-government funded scholarship and financial aid (excluding UGC-funded and RGC-funded) for local students with financial needs enrolled in UGC-funded programmes at all study levels. If a scholarship / financial aid is funded by both government and non-government funding, only the amount funded by non-government source is counted.
- (iii) It presents the amount of scholarship / financial aid and the corresponding number of awardees / recipients from 2021/22 to 2022/23 academic years. If a student received more than one scholarship / financial aid, he / she was counted more than once in the table below.
